To whom it may concern,

Joey works directly for me at Logitech as our web specialist and has been superb in this role. He helped take the brunt of the production load and is a very quick understudy. Joey used his creative skill as well as his dedicated work ethic to create and manage visual assets for our 2010-2011 product launches, well over 150 products and over 2000 image assets.

In addition, he assists in design comps for campaigns and projects that are viewed on a global stage while receiving excellent response for his work from the business units. Joey has an eye for design and acumen for reaching users with his visual creativity. He would be an irreplaceable asset to any company and I look forward to seeing the development of his skill-sets.

Sincerely,
